Kia ora e te whanau,

Our Swimming Sports are coming up soon but will be held after the Interschools because the town pools have been fully booked by other schools that do not have their own swimming pool at their kura. We will have Swim Safe lessons for all classes on Wednesday the 1st March which will be very useful to our tamariki and staff.

Our fruit has finally arrived and will be available for the rest of the term. We have a pataka kai (kai storage house) that our students will be able to access fruit during the day. It was built during the holidays and blends in with the junior playground theme / construction.

We are hopeful of a positive outcome with the drainage across the road from the kura (Park Street) There is a drainpipe that links to our cess-pit which helps the water drain away. At the moment, this drain is blocked by the roots of the large trees on Park Street. I am sure you are all well aware of the lake of water that forms after every down pour of rain. Our field becomes unusable. Our astroturf courts also become unusable. There is an investigation by contractors who are working through this and will hopefully resolve the situation well before the next lot of heavy rains. I guess we will all know if it is working or not before too long.

A meet the Kaiako session will be coming up soon to let whaanau know what is happening in the classrooms and what is planned for the term and year. Some of you may not have actually met your child's Kaiako so this is an opportunity. We'll keep in touch...

A very interesting read...

David Galbraith: Courage is critical to you unleashing your mind and achieving your potential. It is courage you need to overcome a fear, to step outside your comfort zone, to keep moving, to be patient, to keep practicing, trusting and investing. Courage is the most important emotion you need to learn to control in your life. It does not matter if you are still at school, work in one of the biggest companies in the world, are an Olympian or a parent.

David has been a 'mind coach' for many athletes including Lisa Carrington, Sarah Walker, Laura Langman, The Chiefs rugby team, NZ Sevens team. His book Unleashing Greatness is a very worthwhile read. David Galbraith has been a New Zealand Registered clinical psychologist for more than 20 years. He specializes in performance psychology in the sporting and business arenas.

When David first started working with the Chiefs rugby team, there were only small changes to the results of their games at the start. By the 3rd and 4th years, the Chiefs had won the Super Rugby competition 2 years in a row and were a regular top 4 finisher. The importance of putting your mind to commit to a job or task cannot be underestimated.
