16th November 2022

Kia ora e te whanau,

What a week it's been so far? School Athletics yesterday; hosting Otewa School that morning; Photo's for classes and sports teams today, Wednesday. An NZEI Union mtg for teachers during the day for an hour. Interschools Athletics Friday. The pressure is on. There is a saying: If you want something done, ask a busy person. What does this mean for a busy School? It means all the staff are very busy and focused on our tamariki. A lot of organizing whilst trying to keep enthusiasm and fun at the forefront. Thank you to all the staff that put their best foot forward and are here for our tamariki and whaanau.

Next Monday, our senior girls will be involved with an all-day session of self defence. This will be a great confidence booster where they will be learning what signs to look for to keep safe and how to look after themselves.

We acknowledge the recent passing due to illness of Whaea Helen Nelson who was a Kaiako in our junior class and taught here at Te Kura Rautau for 3 x years (from 2014-2016). It was very sad to hear of this news. Moe mai ra Whaea Helen.

Our tamariki at the Art Exhibition

The Art Exhibition at the Les Munro Centre last week provided our tamariki with some inspiration as they cast their eyes over the many different types of work.

This was a 'crazy mat' where the artist made it up as she machined it across

Some of the 'Quilt Art' examples. Tamariki had an opportunity to actually touch and feel the textures of the items. There were examples of work from different Schools. Te Kura Rautau provided a variety of wonderful work that was completed both in the class and along with the team from the Waitomo Art Society.

A moment in time – Our History

16th November 1840: New Zealand officially becomes a British Colony: New Zealand became a separate colony within the British Empire. North, South and Stewart islands were to be known respectively as the provinces of New Ulster, New Munster and New Leinster.

18th November 1947: 41 die in Balantynes Fire: The fire in Christchurch's prestigious department store was the deadliest in New Zealand's history.

19th November 2010: Pike River Mine kills 29: The mine exploded at 3.44 p.m. on Friday 19 November 2010. Twenty-nine of the 31 men underground died immediately or soon afterwards from the blast or because of the toxic atmosphere this generated.

21st November 1863: British troops capture Rangiriri: More British soldiers were killed at 'Bloody Rangiriri' than in any other battle of the New Zealand Wars, but their eventual victory opened the Waikato basin to the imperial forces.

Things happening around the kura

Did you know?

Otewa School visited Te Kura Rautau to give them confidence in performing Kapa Haka. We have an opportunity to visit them sometime next year to help prepare them for our Maniapoto Festival (which is still to be confirmed)

Below are more images of the visit:

A real fun time was had by the students from Te Kura o Otewa who shared kai, kapa haka and play time together with Te Kura Rautau. Here they are practicing Tu Tira Mai Nga Iwi...with actions.

Whakawhanaungatanga – what a session

Did you know?

Te Kura Rautau will be helping Te Kuiti Paa with the 150 Year Celebrations of Te Tokanganui-a-Noho. Student names have been recorded and submitted ready for the welcoming of manuhiri and dignitaries. To get involved, you need to register through the online system (Google: Te Kuiti Pa)

Did you know?

The waiata 'Tu Tira Mai Nga Iwi' was written by Canon Wiremu Wi Te Tau Huata who made the song up as he and his family drove past Lake Tutira in Hawke's Bay in the 1950's. Huata was a chaplain in the Maori Battalion and captain of their rugby team.

However, the song that has become a staple in every New Zealand school, has had the wrong lyrics for over five decades.

Canon Wiremu's daughter Ngatai Huata, explained that the third-to-last line in the song was "kia tapatahi" not "kia ko tapatahi".

The mistranslation occurred when the Ministry of Education published the song in New Zealand schoolbooks in the 1960's.

Isn't it great to know and understand so we can correct things like this for future generations.
